

Hi all,

This week is the 400th Winsham e-letter-not counting the occasional emergency e-letters that have been sent, which are not included in the numbering. I had to look on the Winsham Web Museum to remind myself as to when the first one went out, and it was October 2006.Phew!

Not something especially to celebrate, but it is satisfying for me to feel that it is now a well established part of the parish communications network which includes the Joint Parish Magazine, which has been going for some thirty years, Facebook, Twitter and, of course, the various notice boards-notably at Winsham Shop and various telegraph poles, and of course the Parish Web Site and the Winsham Web Museum. All have different roles, all have their part to play. In Winsham there is really no excuse for not knowing what is going on!

Soon -in a few weeks-another web site will be added to the pantheon-Winsham Parish Council Web Site will play an important role in keeping visitors to the site informed of 'official' matters. This is now a legal requirement, and will be operated by Teresa, our super Parish Clerk. There will be a network of links that will interconnect all of the web sites. Remember also that you can read the e-letter from the Homepage of the Parish Web site at anytime.

Isn't it exciting!! Have a good week,

John

PS-I almost forgot. If you shop at Waitrose in Crewkerne, you can contribute to our Christmas lights by placing your little green 'Tiddly-wink' that you get when you pay, in the appropriate collection box near the door. Every lidle helps!

Go to Winsham's Facebook page, and the Winsham 'Twitter' feed for the very latest of information on many parish topics ,and a lot more too!A short cut to the web Museum has also been added, soon to be joined by the new Winsham Parish Council Web Site
