

Hi All,

It was a great pity that the weather-despite the forecast- was not kinder for the Street Fair yesterday. Rain it is an ongoing risk, but over the last twenty years that I can remember, I can only recall two that were seriously affected. Although umbrellas were the order of the day, the unsettled weather did not stop people of all generations enjoying themselves.

Thank you organisers, and all those that played a part in a very successful event.

Click on the link below to see some of the pictures that I took of the event. In a few weeks time they will be transferred to the Web Museum. If you have any nice pictures, send them to me and I will try to include them.

Although things usually quieten down over the few weeks following a Street Fair, due to the holiday season, there are still many things to look forward to, including the annual Winsham Horticultural Society Show at the end of August.

Keep track by regularly reading your e-letter.

Have a good week-and if you are concerned about the furore following the referendum result, however you voted, remember that our parents and grandparents and great grandparents (depending on your age of course), lived through a great deal of worse uncertainty. Life goes on! Exciting times, but we know what the ancient Chinese are supposed to have said about them!!

John

PS. Try to get along to the St.Stephen's Coffee Morning on Wednesday-details below.

The 'Rio' theme for the Winsham Street Fair started with Winsham School parading the 'torch' down to where the opening ceremony was carried out. Fortunately, the rain held off for this part of the event.
