

No.641

13th June 2021

Hi all,

The week ahead has a sad beginning, with the funeral of Jean Spurdle. Always active in the parish, sadly, towards the end, her health was poor. Nevertheless, she attended whatever village events she could make. She was a regular visitor to the Jubilee Café, which gave her the opportunity to talk with friends, while enjoying a cup of something and a cake. She will be greatly missed.

To enable residents to pay their respects, the funeral cortege will make a short journey around the village on Monday,14th June. The journey to Taunton will start at 10.15, from her home in Bakersfield and the travel up Back Street and return via Fore Street. The funeral service will take place at 11.30. Details of television coverage are, I believe on Facebook.

Bad news!

Oh dear, the news leaking out of Downing Street suggests that we will have to wait a little longer for a complete release from the Covid-19 lockdown. Like it or not, we will have to put up with it, and I suppose with lives potentially at risk, it is probably better to be safe than sorry; it doesn't mean that we have to like it!

Now the good news!

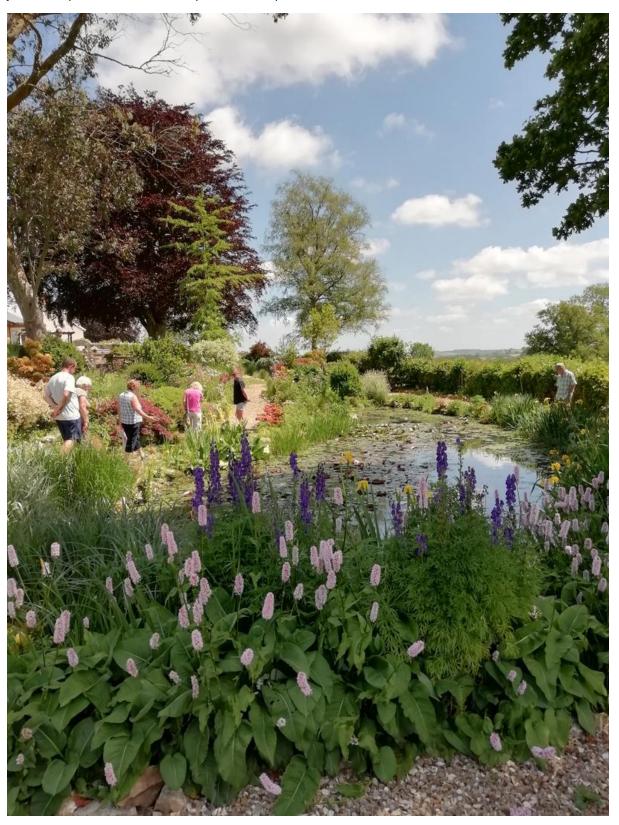

The village and parish is certainly brightening up. The Jubilee Hall has its hanging baskets out. The streets and houses are breaking out in brightly coloured pompoms, and all manner of strange insects, flowers, and birds.

Haven't seen any scarecrows yet, but perhaps I just haven't been in the right places. More pics on the web site.

Open Garden's preview

Jan, our daughter Kate, and I have just spent one of the most enjoyable few hours that we have had for a long time, getting a preview of the gardens that will be participating in the Open Gardens event in a couple of weeks' time; a privilege accorded to participants, as of course they will be unable to view the gardens on the day itself. Justified modesty precludes me from remarking on our Chapel House Garden, but what a delight, without exception, the others were. Yesterday was a beautiful day, which showed everything off to best advantage. The colours, the scents, and, on occasions, the truly beautiful settings. A glory to behold; small and big, they are all worth a visit. Below are just a few pictures in which I hope to have captured the flavour of the event to come.

Picture by Kate Patay-taken on her mobile!

There are some more pictures on the web site-Click on the link in the table below.

Another very encouraging event took place on Friday evening on Winsham Field at the newly established and refurbished Winsham Community Club House, where it established that it was open for use. The weather was not so encouraging, being rather overcast, but a reasonable number turned out-all ages, including the kids, and all enjoyed a barbecue. The club house does not yet have a drinks licence, but despite that, all welcomed the opportunity for a pleasant village get-together.

And now-at long last...you can enjoy the winning entries for the Grand Winsham Challenge-poetry, short story and picture winners can be enjoyed-just click on the link below. We must not forget Anne Beviss's incredible performance of achieving 95% in winning the difficult Winsham Quiz.

Certificates for the winners are being prepared, and hopefully this time around it will be possible to arrange a proper presentation by the Winsham Parish Council-something that the Lockdown prevented last year.

Also, the Joint Parish Magazine area on the Parish Web site has been substantially revised, giving a closer look into its long history, and what there was before. It also includes all the information you need if you wish to advertise or send in a contribution. Due to its very nature, being a monthly, it is rarely the first with the news; village gossip, the rumour mill, sometimes fuelled by the Community Facebook page and the e-letter, usually get in first! Nevertheless, it occupies a special spot in the way that information is passed around. It also serves Cricket St. Thomas and Thorncombe, so its editorial content is more widely spread, and not concentrated on Winsham alone. Nevertheless, it is very popular, and well worth its subscription cost -reduced from January 2022-to £5 pa-with free to-your-door delivery.

Finally, the monthly report from the Parish Council is on the web site, as are Linda Vijeh's County and Covid reports.

That's it for this week-enjoy the weather, and make sure you support the Open Garden's event-something that, I am sure, many will enjoy.

'Bye for now,

John
