The LOARINGS of WINSHAM - INTRODUCTION

Although I had the great good fortune to be born and brought up on the Isle of Wight I have never felt that my roots were there. My mother was only a first generation Islander, and my father came from Winsham; how they came to meet in Rangoon is related later, and it suffices to say that they married in 1922 and settled in Cowes, where my brother and I were born. I grew up believing the name Loaring to be rather distinctive, and I heard occasional mention of other Loarings - for example John Loaring, a Canadian hurdler who won a silver medal at the Berlin Olympic Games in 1936. There were said to be Loarings in the Channel Islands and one also came across the odd Loring, but they were obviously of a lesser breed.

Before World War 2 we spent several holidays in Winsham, and in June 1942, after our home was destroyed by bombing, my mother, brother and I were evacuated there. We stayed with my grandmother Ellen and cousin Kathleen Loaring in Fore Street until the end of 1944, by which time the end of the war was in sight and, more to the point, Kathleen had just married and it was better for us to get out of the way. Those two and a half years at a formative time of my life had an effect on me far beyond the acquisition of a Somerset accent, and not surprisingly I developed the feeling that Winsham was where my real roots lay.

Soon after our return to the Island I went to Southampton to take a degree in civil engineering, and then joined the Western Region of British Railways at Paddington; I spent my whole career with BR, in one place or another. In 1967 I was posted to the London headquarters and was surprised to find that there was already a Loaring listed in the office telephone directory, a Miss Gwen Loaring. We met, and she told me that she had done some research into her family and had found its early 18th Century origins in the village of Awliscombe in south Devon, near Honiton and some fifteen miles from Winsham. We could find no connection between our families and, although we kept in occasional touch, there the matter rested.

In 1978 Gwen passed on to me a letter from a Canadian Loaring, her cousin (and son of the Olympian), who was "carrying out a genealogical research project" on his family name. He expressed the opinion that "as the surname was so rare, it should be possible to establish relationships in all cases that come to light"; I have been pursuing that elusive aim ever since. After accepting the chance of early retirement in 1984 family history became a serious hobby, and in due course I became a member of the Society of Genealogists, the Somerset & Dorset Family History Society, the Devon Family History Society, and the Guild of One Name Studies. On behalf of the latter I am undertaking a formal 'One Name Study' of the surname Loring and its variants.

These, then, are my credentials for offering these notes on the Loarings of Winsham. Their preparation has brought back many happy memories.

The LOARINGS of WINSHAM

Notes

This document relies heavily on the parish registers of St Stephen's church and much of the early writing is hard to decipher, so that the author's reading of the entries frequently differs from Judy Hodges' transcriptions published by the Somerset & Dorset Family History Society. There are gaps in the registers from 1645 - 1654 and from 1751 - 1754.

The spelling of the surname varied wildly before settling down as Loaring; other versions include:

Laroing    Loarding    Loreinge    Loreng    Loringe    Louering    Loueringe    Lowring

The same person could have different spelling at baptism, marriage and burial, so for simplicity the entries in the charts starting on p 10 can be taken as referring to Loring prior to 1718 and Loaring thereafter.

From about 1190 until 1751 the New Year started on Lady Day, the 25th of March. This can produce apparent anomalies in earlier records: for example a child might be shown as baptised on the 21st of August 1645 and buried on the 23rd of February 1645, aged 6 months. To avoid confusion, dates between the 1st of January and the 24th of March for years prior to 1752 are shown, for example, as 23 Feb 1645<sup>6</sup>.

The name is pronounced to rhyme with 'roaring' and 'soaring' - not 'boring'

Acknowledgement

I am grateful for the ready help I have had from the families of my Winsham cousins in providing the details that, I hope, have made this document something more than a dull record of names, dates and places.

These 'Chapman Codes' are used as abbreviations for counties:

Brk = Berkshire	Chs = Cheshire	Cor = Cornwall	Dev = Devon	Dor = Dorset	Gla = Glamorgan
Gls = Gloucestershire	Hrt = Hertfordshire	Ken = Kent	Lnd = London	Som = Somerset	Sts = Staffordshire
Ssx = Sussex	War = Warwickshire	Wil = Wiltshire	Wor = Worcestershire	Yrk = Yorkshire

Reference Codes

The entries are grouped firstly by generations and then by families; each family has an identifying letter, and each child has a number: for example:

Thomas Malachi Loaring is found at 10 D 5, ie he belongs to the 10th generation, and he is the fifth child of family 'D'.

See Appendix 1 on p 38 for a Table of the Heads of families

The author and his first cousins are of the 12th generation; the latest (their great-grandchildren) is the 15th.

The LOARINGS of WINSHAM - ANCIENT

The name LORING can best be taken as meaning 'the man from Lotharingia', which was the Kingdom of Lothar II, a great-grandson of Charlemagne. It was created in 855, and comprised the whole of Holland and Luxembourg, the northern part of Belgium, and parts of northern France; what is now known as Lorraine in France is only the rump of the old Kingdom. The first known mention of the name in England was in about 1060, when Albert 'Lorigensis' became a chaplain to King Edward the Confessor.

How the name came to the West Country is a mystery, but the Loarings of Winsham were not unique: there were Lorings in and around Axminster from the same early times, and although they probably had a common ancestor it has not been possible to prove this, DNA testing having been inconclusive. What the Winsham Loarings can claim is that they have been in the village for over 460 years, something that no other parish comes close to matching.

In common with most C of E Churches, the parish registers of St Stephen's date back to 1558, and the earlier registers were written in Latin. The parish clerk entered details as he heard them, so it is not surprising that the broad south Somerset dialect could be misinterpreted, leading to a wide variety in the spelling of the basic surname LORING. In general the handwriting was poor, and difficult to read.

The first entry for the Loaring family in Winsham was a baptism:           17 September 1560       Agnes filia Thoma' Loring
Or: Agnes daughter of Thomas Loring

There is no way of knowing how long Thomas had been in the village, nor of knowing whom, where or when he had married, though it was probably the 'Edith' who died in 1610. Agnes seems to have been their first child, as there are no entries in the registers that can be related to an earlier one, so one could reasonably suppose that Thomas would have been about 25 when she was baptised, and hence that he was born c1535.

Thomas had four more children after Agnes, who died aged two: two sons and two daughters. The first son, John, was born in 1565 and only lived for two weeks, but the second son, William, born in 1566, survived, married and fathered two sons to continue the family line forward. In 1718 a new parish clerk started to use the spelling Loaring, and it has largely remained so ever since.

The LOARINGS of WINSHAM - MODERN

TOM, DICK and HARRY: those with long memories may recall these brothers, the sons of Thomas and Mary Loaring, née Denning.

- TOM      Thomas Malachi Loaring (1857)      was the eldest, a thatcher by profession and, in his latter years, a lay preacher at the Ebenezer Chapel, Stony Knaps.
- DICK      Richard Denning Loaring (1861)      was the youngest, also a thatcher, and a bachelor. His claim to fame is that he carried the flag at local parades, and is shown doing so on one or two old picture postcards.
- HARRY      Henry Alfred Loaring      (1859)      another thatcher, who lived in a cottage off Fore St, next to Churchill's the blacksmiths, and who was memorable to me for having a parrot in his window.

All bar one of the Loarings born in Winsham in the 20th century were descendants of either 'Tom' or 'Harry'. Henry Alfred Loaring married Sarah Singleton in 1877, but of their five children only one stayed in the village; that was their eldest, Mary Ann (Polly), who married William Norris. Henry's first son died in infancy, two more daughters married away, and the other son William left to work in a colliery in Radstock. Descendants of his still live in North Somerset.

It was Thomas Malachi Loaring who kept the line going in Winsham. He was my grandfather, but as he died when I was only four years old my recollections of him are shadowy; a stern man whose bookcase in the parlour held such light reading as 'Fox's Book of Martyrs', and who was remembered by my mother for expostulating; "What's this? Toys on a Sunday?" In 1881 he married Ellen Rosa Stoodley (1852) from Wayford, who by contrast was a quiet, sweet little lady. She loved her garden and knew not only the name of every plant but, more importantly, who had given it to her. They lived in 'The Barracks' in Fore Street which, I am told, was originally a single thatched building with one open end used for stabling and storage. No one seems to know how or when it came by that name, but it has been suggested that it dates back to the Monmouth Rebellion in 1685. At some stage the open end was filled in and turned into a separate dwelling, now known as 'Kimmerdene'; the main part is 'Barrack Cottage', sold in 2006 after countless years as the family home.

They had four sons:

James Thomas (1881 - 1952)      Maurice Morey Denning (1884 - 1895)      Charles Archibald (1887 - 1971)      John Henry (1894 - 1982)

As it is their families that will be best remembered, and still have a presence in Winsham and the surrounding area, they are shown in both the male and the female lines, starting on page 28.

The last Loaring to be born in the village was Charles Archibald's grandson, Malcolm Geoffrey: b 1949 - see p 31

The four sons of Thomas Malachi Loaring:

1 James Thomas Loaring:

Born 24 Nov 1881 at 'The Barracks', Fore Street; died at his home in Church Street 15 Nov 1952; buried in Winsham Cemetery.

He was a carpenter by trade, and the Census of 31 March 1901 showed him as employed on the Cricket St Thomas Estate. By 1911 he had become foreman carpenter, living in a cottage on the Estate with his wife and two children. He had married Catherine Long (aka Kate) in 1906, probably in Winsham; she was born in Thorncombe q1 1884, the daughter of Northcote John C Long and Annie, née Hayball. James did not serve in the armed forces during the Great War, but I do not know whether this was because of his work, or whether he was medically unfit. At some stage he left the Cricket Estate and set up business in 'The Roost', Church Street as a carpenter and jobbing builder, also acting as an undertaker. He was a skilled wood-carver and I am told he did the carving on the choir stalls at St Stephen's; he also made a reredos for Wells Cathedral, though no one knows which one, out of the dozen or so that are there. He was also the first of the family to own a car - which I recall as a large open tourer, abandoned in the workshop and shrouded in sawdust and cobwebs.

James and Kate had two children: Thomas Northcote Wallace Loaring b 24 Apr 1907, and Stella Alice Loaring b 3 Mar 1909; both were born at Cricket St Thomas, but not baptised until 12 Nov 1922 at St Stephen's; the late baptisms may have been related to James's appointment as Organist & Choirmaster at St Stephen's, a post that he held for many years. Catherine died 28 Mar 1936 and was buried in Winsham Cemetery.

James gave a home to his nephew (Geoffrey) Arthur, wife and daughter when they were first married, and their son Malcolm was born there. They perforce had to leave when James died in 1952, and the house was sold.

More details of James's family are given on p 28, and of Arthur's on page 33.

2 Maurice Morey Denning Loaring:

Born 15 Nov 1884 at the Barracks, Fore Street; died there 22 Mar 1895 aged 10.

I am told that his early death was due to a fever brought about by falling into an ice-cold River Axe. As the bearer of his name, I am sad to say that I have no idea what sort of a lad he was, apart from being too adventurous.

The four sons of Thomas Malachi Loaring cont:

3 Charles Archibald Loaring:

Born 19 Jun 1887 at 'The Barracks', Fore Street; died 8 Mar 1971, buried in Winsham Cemetery.

He started work at the Cricket Estate, first as a gardener and then as a carpenter, assisting his elder brother James who was the Foreman Carpenter. He joined the Army in 1914 and served in France, where he survived a gas attack, and then in the Middle East. On 2 October 1920 he married Annie Elizabeth Paull at St Stephen's; she was the daughter of William and Harriett Paull, born 18 Jan 1888 at Woolminstone (between Winsham and Crewkerne), and the widow of Albert Russell, whom she had married q2 1915. He was born in 1891 at Cricket St Thomas, and was killed in action in Flanders on 28 Apr 1917.

Charles was a member of the Winsham Coronation Band, and I have been told that one Christmas he was brought home in a wheelbarrow after wassailing too enthusiastically. His children and grandchildren were the mainstay of the band right up to its demise in 2009, 107 years after it was formed

In later years he was a woodsman, working for a sawmill at Chard Junction. At some stage he had acquired the nickname 'Kimmer' - hence 'Kimmerdene', the name chosen by his son Percy for his part of 'The Barracks'. I remember him as a real countryman, full of stories about the family, related in a broad west-country dialect; I have never forgotten him addressing Aunt Bessie with: "Do thee bide quiet thy chackling, thee old vool, and go get I zum vittals". She took it all in good part, as she was always good-humoured and ready to laugh at herself with a: "There's a vool, now". She died 1 Apr 1967 in hospital in Taunton and was buried 6 Apr in Winsham Cemetery.

They had five children, all born at 'The Barracks':

Kathleen Doris	b 11 Aug 1921	d 26 Apr 2006
Thomas Archibald	b 23 Sep 1922	d 15 Mar 2006
Geoffrey Arthur	b 18 Jan 1924	d 6 May 2007
Frederick John	b 28 Aug 1925	d 27 Feb 2009
Percy Charles	b 12 Sep 1927	d 30 Sep 2008

more details are shown from p 28 onwards

4 John Henry Loaring:

Born 30 Jul 1894 at 'The Barracks', Fore Street; died 19 Mar 1982 at Burgess Hill, West Sussex; cremated 26 Mar at Brighton.

The author's father, known as 'Jack' to his family and 'Jim' to his friends. He too started work at the Cricket Estate as assistant carpenter to his eldest brother, James Thomas, then became secretary to Miss Fry in Cricket House itself. He enlisted in the Somerset Light Infantry in Aug 1914 and was posted to the Military Accounts Headquarters in Maymyo, Burma, eventually reaching the rank of Sergeant. After demobilisation in 1919 he stayed on in Rangoon and became an accounts clerk with the Henderson Line shipping company. He attended the Methodist Church and played the piano at some of their functions . . .

My mother, Hilda Winnie North was born 28 Sep 1891 in Newport, Isle of Wight, the second of four girls, and was always known as Winnie or Wyn. They had an older brother, Wesley North, who was killed in action in 1917, and whose name is borne by four nephews he never knew. Having seen all three sisters marry, Wyn persuaded her father to let her spend her 'dowry' on a year's holiday with her youngest sister's husband's family - the Fegredos, who lived in Rangoon and whom she had met when they were visiting England. She sailed from Liverpool 11 March 1921 and, once settled in with her friends, started to attend the Methodist Church and some of their functions . . .

She returned home a year later, closely followed by Jack Loaring, whom she married on 24 Aug 1922 at Newport IW. They lived over the 'The Golden Bon-Bon', a confectionery & tobacco shop in Cowes High Street, and in due course acquired the North family wholesale & retail confectioner & tobacconist's business, with other premises in Cowes and Newport. My father, like his brother James, was an organist and he served the Mill Hill Methodist Church for 50 years; one of the many questions I regret never asking was where and how he learned to play; I remember an old harmonium at 'The Barracks', so perhaps their father taught them. For the few years before he joined the Army he played the euphonium in the Winsham Silver Band.

During WW 2 father was a Senior Air Raid Warden, and had seconds to take cover before the bomb that wrecked our home landed, killing two people not so lucky at finding shelter; the rest of us were safe in a cellar at the rear. We were fortunate to be able to move into a vacant house owned by my grandmother. After retiring aged 67 Jack took up bowls, and became a regular member of the IW County team. Towards the end of 1979 my mother's health had deteriorated to the extent that she could no longer cope, and they moved in with us at Burgess Hill; she died there 1 Jul 1980 and was cremated 4 Jul at Brighton.

Their two children, both born at Cowes IW, are: Maurice Wesley b 12 Nov 1927 see p 33

Richard John b 7 May 1931 see p 34

1 Ada Maria b 19 Jun 1871 Yv d 25 Dec 1936 USA

m 21 Jul 1892 Clapton, Lnd

William James Clark 1869 - 1959

Ada was a singer and William a clergyman; they left England 31 Mar 1921 for St John, New Brunswick, and eventually settled in Tennessee, where they took a prominent part in the Episcopal Church. They styled themselves Loaring-Clark, and two of their granddaughters, Margaret and Sarah Loaring-Clark, visited Winsham three times; firstly in search of their ancestors, secondly to party with them, and a third time when Margaret's husband, the Rt Revd William Jones, former Bishop of St Louis, took part in a service at St Stephen's.
